No update-The contractor for the second phase, the fire suppression system, and is proceeding with upgrading the fire detection and alarm. Biweekly construction meetings have resumed and the WSSC permit issue has been resolved.

Additionally the Park is taking on two condition assessments; one on the existing heating system and one on the rest of the house.

Clara Barton National Historic Site is closed to the public for a two part rehabilitation project. The site closed on October 3, 2015. The Visitor Service staff has developed interpretive programs to educate the public about the site during the closure. Offsite interpretive programs have been very successful!

Improved Visitor Services

The Visitor Service staff is working to improve the audio visual services in the Glen Echo visitor area that can interpret the history of Glen Echo Park.

Park staff is starting a project to do a temporary, movable exhibit for Clara Barton National Historic Site that will rotate to different venues in the community.

Hazardous Tree Project

The GWMP hazardous tree removal project has begun along the Clara Barton Parkway. Trees are identified as hazardous if they meet two criteria; they have a target and they have a defect. The NPS removes hazardous trees in order to ensure the safety of our visitors. In order to conduct this work safely, there will be a number of Saturday lane closures.

Due to Emerald Ash Borer, an invasive beetle that targets Ash tree species and the nearly 100% mortality rate, there will be a large visual impact to this work. In some areas of the park, Ash can make up about 50% of all the trees.

Glen Echo Park Partnership Agreement

No update- In early February, The National Park Service received a draft of the Cooperative Management Agreement from Montgomery County. The draft is being reviewed by Regional Office and Park staff. The Park and the County will be working on an extension of the current agreement to allow for ongoing negotiations for the Cooperative Management Agreement.

While this process is underway, the current agreement will be extended through June of 2018. The current agreement that expires in June 2017 allows for a possible extension of 5 years. The Superintendent is committed to some type of public involvement for the Cooperative Management Agreement.

The issue of the basketball hoop recently placed on Oxford Road was raised. Mayor Polak has reached out to the owner to discuss removal. If the hoop is not voluntarily removed, the NPS will deem it abandoned and seize it.
